Exploring Your Call: A Seminar on Faith and Vocation for Youth

This is made possible through a grant from the Lilly endowment, Inc. The next Exploring Your Call will offer two events: June 24-28, 2004 and July 22-26, 2004. This is for high school juniors and seniors. Perhaps you aren't completely in focus about your hopes and dreams for your future. Do you ever wonder how God sees your future? How do God and your faith fit in with those hopes and dreams? EYC is a summer program designed to help you think about these questions and more. Participants will explore their call, vocation and gifts. Participants will live near the Bethany Theological Seminary Campus while sharing time with approximately twenty other students. Activities will include:

- Classes taught by seminary and/or college professors
- Congregational involvement through shadowing pastors and chaplains, and leading worship in a local congregation;
- Personal and spiritual enrichment opportunities for corporate and individual worship and reflection
- Recreational activities such as volleyball, Frisbee, canoeing.

There is no cost to you other than transportation to and from Richmond, Indiana. Please consider making EYC part of your summer plans. Application information can be found on the EYC web site.
